

Cecilie Fjellhøy

TV Presenter and Speaker

Cecilie Fjellhøy is an inspiration to audiences around the world. She first came into the public eye when coming forward with her fraud story, widely known as the 'Tinder Swindler' case. After her story became the foundation of Netflix's most viewed documentary of all time, she aims to utilise her insights and expertise to help financial institutions, police and society to change perceptions and combat romance fraud.

Passionate that victims should be part of the discussion for changing processes, laws, and regulations, Cecilie has dedicated her career to making a positive change throughout the community.

Cecilie is now the proud Co-Founder of LoveSaid CIC, an organisation which aims to change the stigma of emotional scams for victims and the wider society. Creating an environment made by fraud victims for fraud victims, she is creating a safe space where victims feel comfortable to open up about what they have been through and take the necessary steps to seek justice.

Saluted for being open and honest about her difficult situation, Cecilie is talking about the unspoken topics of cybercrime and sharing their importance with audiences worldwide.
