

Burgerfection

Content Creators

Dylan and Sara are the creative duo and real-life partners behind Burgerfection, on a mission to level up burgers across the globe.

For too long, the secrets behind a truly great burger were kept behind closed doors. Dylan and Sara have set out to uncover these secrets and share them with the world. Blending sharp humor, true passion, and culinary insight, Burgerfection has amassed a loyal, highly engaged community of nearly 600K followers across Instagram, TikTok, and YouTube.

The pair hit their stride with their breakout WTF series, which exposed Burgerfection to a whole new audience and cemented their reputation as the go-to voice on all things burger.

Dylan, leading as host, was born in South Africa where he grew up with braai tongs in hand. A self-taught Chef and lifelong burger obsessive, he pairs that passion with more than a decade of creating content for brands.

Sara is a visual storyteller who grew up in a family of Chefs, which helped craft her eye for narrative detail and plating perfection. She shares creative direction with Dylan and leads filming, editing and design, giving Burgerfection its distinctive look and polish.

Armed with real chemistry and an obsessively loyal audience, Burgerfection turns food curiosity into must-watch entertainment.
