

Jordan Gray

Actor, Comedian and Screenwriter

Jordan Gray is one of the UK's most celebrated rising comedians and screenwriters.

In 2022, her solo hour Is It A Bird? sold out at The Edinburgh Fringe Festival. She went on to be nominated for The Dave Comedy Award (formerly the Perrier) and won Next Up's Biggest Award in Comedy and The British Comedy Guide's Comedian's Comedian.

Following her Edinburgh success, Jordan took Is It A Bird? to the Melbourne International Comedy Festival 2023, and the show went on to be nominated for the Most Outstanding Show Award. She has since completed her UK tour of this award-winning show, returning to Edinburgh Fringe in 2023 for two nights.

Jordan has gone on to change the face of British TV with an iconic performance on Channel 4's recent RTS and BAFTA winner, Friday Night Live, and a week later she became the first transgender person to take a solo stand-up show to The London Palladium.

She has recently appeared on Ch4's Stand Up to Cancer, The Last Leg, The Russell Howard Hour, Q.I., As Yet Untitled, Joe Lycett's (Bafta Winning) Got Your Back Christmas Special, and Jack Whitehall's Safe Space. Jordan is also the creator and co-star of Comedy-Central's record-breaking Transaction which is currently in production for ITV, starring Nick Frost.

Her 'brilliant!' (i Newspaper) podcast 'Transplaining' can be found on most podcast platforms. Do have a listen!